'HOME GROWN' — This house is one of 67 being built in Belmont that are being constructed by the owners themselves in their spare time. The house above is being constructed by Fred and Donna Simpson, the youngest couple in the area undertaking the job. They hope to be able to move in within the next three months. At present they are living in Menlo Park.

Lloyd Head Succumbs, Wife Hurt Critically In SM Bridge Mishap

A Belmont man was injured fatally and his wife critically early Monday when the car in which they were returning home from a Christmas holiday trip smashed into the guard rails of the San Mateo Bridge.

The death of Lloyd Head, about 36, of 828 Ruth Ave., was the only holiday fatality in San Mateo County over Christmas weekend.

Mr. Head died at 6:41 a.m. in Mills Memorial Hospital of a skull fracture suffered in the accident at 5 a.m. His wife, Mrs. Frances Kay Head, 27, suffered a serious head injury, concussion, fractured ankle and shoulder. She was taken unconscious to Mills Hospital, which reported her condition as critical.

Mr. and Mrs. Head were thrown out of the car when it smashed into the guard rails.

The California Highway Patrol, which investigated the accident, reported that it is not known which was driving the car.

The 1947 model sedan was westbound on the bridge. About a mile east of the toll plaza the car went out of control on a curve, crossed the roadway and sideswiped the guard rail.

Mrs. Head was found on the road near this point.

The car then careened 70 feet back across the road and smashed into the guard rail on the other side. Mr. Head apparently was thrown from the car near the second point of impact.

The hospital reported that Mr. Head formerly was employed by the McKesson and Robbins Co., San Francisco, a drug manufacturing firm.

Neighbors said that the couple had been away during the holidays, and believed that there are no children.

Neighbors also reported that Mr. and Mrs. Head had been visting Mr. Head's mother in Angel's Camp, and were returning home when the accident happened.

Mr. Head, according to friends, had worked as a bookkeeper for the drug chain, and more recently had been studying at night to become a certified public accountant. The couple had lived at the Belmont address for about two years.

DETERMINED DOG — Redwood City police had to forceably eject this dog, shown above, from the car after the owner of the vehicle couldn't push the mutt off the top. Howard Larson, San Carlos, Frank Willis, Redwood City, and Albert Engelhart told police they parked their car at Cliff's Drive-In this week and the dog jumped up on the car. When they couldn't get the dog off the top of the car they drove, dog and all, to the Redwood City police station where officers succeeded in coaxing the animal off his perch.

SM County Executive Will Oppose McDonald At June's Election

Frederick Peterson, lame duck county executive whose job was swept from under him a year ago by the county's voters, has bounced off the ropes and decided to take another swing in the political ring.

Peterson announced this week that he will run for supervisor in next June's primary election, opposing his erstwhile friend and political ally, Edward R. McDonald of Burlingame.

—Tribune Photo

FREDERICK PETERSON

"I honestly feel I couldn't lay down," Peterson confided. "I've been fighting for this thing so long, I want to continue it."

By "this thing," he explained, he means tax reduction and governmental economy.

The "this thing" obviously will be Peterson's main political platform in the coming months, although he refused to comment on how he will conduct his campaign.

"I have friends in the county," he declared.

Peterson said that he believed that there can be a great many improvements made in county government, so far as the expenditure of tax moneys is concerned.

"I think I can be of service to the people of this county," he added.

"I've been fighting for tax reduction and economy in county government all the years I've been in the courthouse."

He said his decision to run for supervisor, rumored for nearly a year, has "absolutely nothing personal" about it.

The November, 1948, election culminated efforts to remove Peterson from the elective post he has held since 1939.

The voters last year passed a charter amendment making the post of county executive appointive, rather than elective. Peterson's elective term of office expires in January, 1951.

The election was the third aimed at ending the Peterson dynasty.

In 1940 an election was held on whether the post of county executive should be abolished. The voters voted "Nay." A year later an election was held on making the job appointive. That also was voted down.

Last year's election was dubbed today by Peterson as a "fluke in politics."

"They put one over on the county," he added.

By "they" Peterson meant the board of supervisors, with whom Peterson has clashed repeatedly during his more than 10 years in office.

"The board didn't appreciate having a check on them," Peterson said.

Peterson, a veteran in county politics since the middle 1920s, refused to say how old he was, except that he was in his upper 60s.

Starting in 1926 he served for four years as a city councilman of Burlingame, where he still lives at 1702 Broadway with his wife and 17-year-old daughter.

Also in Burlingame Peterson organized the chamber of commerce and served as its president. He was the first commander of the Burlingame American Legion Post 163.

Before entering politics Peterson was a nurseryman, a partner in the firm of Peterson and Hayward. After his city council stint he was elected to the state assembly for four years, starting in 1930. While in the assembly he served as chairman of the interim committee which investigated building and loan companies.

While holding the state post Peterson continued to keep his finger on local political affairs. He served as chairman of the charter study committee which took the first steps to install a charter form of government in the county.

His prize coup was made in 1938. Aspiring to the then appointive post of county executive, Peterson found a hostile board of supervisors.

So he decided to make the office elective, and to get it that way.

He spearheaded a movement to make not only the county executive's post, but also five other offices, elective. The charter amendment carried, and in another election held the same year, Peterson was elected to fill the job.

Pair, 19-20, Building Own Home

Added to the list of stout-hearted couples building their own homes in Belmont are the names of Fred and Donna Stimpson, the youngest couple in the area undertaking the job.

Fred and Donna, who are 20 and 19, respectively, expect to move into their six-room, California redwood home at 2506 Carmelita Ave. within the next three months.

Home building is no mere whim of the Stimpsons. The lot was purchased two years ago, three months after they were married. They might have begun construction before they did in July of last year by applying for a loan, but Fred wanted to be able to walk into the finished house and call it "all my own."

So far, all material used has been paid for in cash. About $4000 has been put into the home, according to Donna.

The young couple are living at the home of Donna's mother, Mrs. John Sowder at 150 Loyola Ave. in Menlo Park until the house is ready to occupy. Both of them work, Fred at Daley Bros. Corp. in Belmont and Donna at Butler Bros. in Redwood City, but weekends they spend on the house.

They hope to be able to complete construction by themselves, including installation of gas and electricity.

The Stimpsons are only one out of 67 couples who have built or are building their homes in Belmont since Jan. 1 of this year. These young married people are serving to inspire other couples who want their own homes, but are unable to have it done for them.

Three of these couples pooled resources and constructed a sewer line at a much lower cost than the city could have done it. Two army sergeants took over the razing of an old house in San Mateo in return for any material they could salvage and worked together on each other's houses.

These and countless other examples of cooperation serve to typify this community of hard-working, determined young citizens, which has arisen in Belmont.

Estimate 30,000 Vets in SM County

How many veterans are there in San Mateo County?

The current estimate by Floyd D. Granger, Veterans Service Officer, is approximately 30,000. But, until the results of the 1950 census are tabulated, this figure is only an educated guess, Granger points out.

Veterans themselves can help provide a more nearly accurate count, he adds. At the same time they can do themselves and their dependents a real favor. How?

If any veteran in San Mateo County has not yet paid a call at the Veterans Service Office in connection with some problem in connection with benefits to which he is entitled under state or federal law, he should do so without delay, Granger advises.

Even if he has no current problem, he will save himself time and perhaps difficulty later on by coming in and placing on record in the files certain pertinent information about his military service.

"I venture to say that every ex-service man in this area can make advantageous use of the assistance we offer at some time or other. There are scores of ways in which we are prepared to aid him. Whether he needs forms, information, assistance with a claim for benefits, or counsel about National Service Life Insurance, on-the-job training, or any one of a hundred other matters, he can help us to help him by being registered at this office." As an added service, the Veterans Service Office is issuing veteran's identification cards, indicating serial, claim, insurance numbers and other identifying information for the veteran's own use for reference, and to supply important information in case of emergency. These cards are available on request at the Veterans Service Office in the courthouse here.

Somebody Wanted Gift So He Takes a Car

Dennis S. Fox, 828 Blandford Blvd., Redwood City, reported to police Sunday that someone who never heard of the Christmas spirit stole his automobile while it was parked in front of his home.

Mohr, Ures Families Win SC Yule Prizes

First prize in the outdoor Christmas displays in the Chamber of Commerce Christmas contest in San Carlos was awarded last week, for the second year in a row, to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Mohr at 2020 Carmelita Dr.

Their home, just off Alameda de las Pulgas, was the most elaborately decorated house of many brightly illuminated homes throughout the city.

Second prize went to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert D. Murphy where Santa's reindeer climbed the roof of their house at 2073 Eaton Ave.

Third prize was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Peresich, at 2095 Eucalyptus, where a Christmas train came out of a snowy igloo.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ures at 1140 Orange Ave. won first prize for indoor displays with a large tree in a window illuminated by indirect lighting. Mrs. Ira Rudikoff's Santa Claus scene at 163 Ruby Ave. won second prize, while the Victor Tolleys received third for their Nativity scene at their home at 2024 Arroyo Ave.

Noel Pennington, Councilman Newell Sharkey, Yee Wong and Milton Lauterwasser, judges, toured the city Friday, visiting all the homes where residents had turned in applications to the chamber of commerce, and after making their decisions, presented the cash awards at each winner's home.

Santa Claus Lane, the 2100 block on Greenwood Ave. where all the residents combined to decorate the entire street, received a special prize of $25. Other prizes were for $15, $10 and $5 in each classification.

The Mohrs began their Christmas decorating plans last June, Mrs. Mohr said today. The family there, including 9½-year-old Gary, and 4½-year-old Wayne, had round-table discussions on the plans. This year Mr. Mohr made the entire string of some 150 lights which frame the big living room window and edge the roof, while 11 spot lights focus attention on Santa at the chimney waving "Season's Greetings," the little elves and even two black cats crouched on the roof.

A tree on the porch revolves to Christmas music while blinking lights draw the eye to another tree framed in the window, and six tall red candles mark the entryway.

"It's hard work," says Mrs. Mohr, "but we like to do it in the interest of San Carlos—we want to help make San Carlos a pretty city. I expect we'll keep it up indefinitely."

It was Santa's biggest night in Santa Claus Lane last Friday. Bill Jackson, as Santa, has spent almost every night for the last two weeks handing out candy in the decorated street. Last night the chamber of commerce sent a letter of thanks along with their cash prize of $25 which was given to George Ybarreta, chairman of the street project, while 300 candy canes were given to Santa to hand out to the crowds. Among the steady stream of Christmas sightseers last night was a truck with 25 patients from the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Palo Alto.

The cash, Ybarreta said today, will be used where it is most needed, and residents of the Lane will meet to decide about its use after the first of the year.

Belmont Legion Auxiliary Has Christmas Party

Christmas activities have filled the calendar for members of the Belmont American Legion Auxiliary. During the month they donated and decorated the Belmont Library's Christmas tree, sent Christmas gifts to their adopted veteran in the Los Angeles Veteran's Hospital and brought gifts for needy children to their joint Christmas party with the post.

The Christmas party was the most recent event and was attended by more than 50 members. Mrs. Kathleen Horne was in charge of party plans assisted by Mrs. Caston Pope, Mrs. Gertrude Cowden and Floyd Frost.

Three new members, Mrs. Harold Crandall, Mrs. Alan Miller and Mrs. Alec Morrison, joined the auxiliary at the meeting.

Auxiliary members who attended included Mmes. Caston Pope, Josephine Wallace, Gertrude Cowden, Frances Neihuis, Kathleen Horne, Elizabeth Rebec, Catherine Heartsner, Kathleen Anthony, Doris Vannler, Doris Smith, Susanne Drotleff, Betty Truce and Carl Valladeo.

Mrs. H. R. Mohr Named To Jewish Center Board

Mrs. Henry R. Mohr was elected financial secretary at a recent special meeting of the Peninsula Jewish Community Center board of directors. She will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Elmer Zucker, who was elected to the board.

Motel Raided By Burglars

Thieves entered through an unlocked backdoor at the Motel El Camino, 1402 Stafford St., sometime Tuesday between 10:15 a.m. and 11:10 p.m. and stole $100 from the cash drawer, Redwood City police reported.

Andrew Windiate, manager of the motel, told officers he had locked the front door to the motel office but had left the backdoor unlocked while he went to clean rooms.

While the manager was cleaning the rooms the thieves walked in through the backdoor and took the money from the cash box in the office.

NMB Tells Of Expansion In Sale Plans

National Motor Bearing Co. expects to increase its sales by 40 to 50 per cent or from 9 to 14 million dollars during 1950, because of manufacture of new types of oil seals and expansion of its Van Wert, O., and Arrowread Rubber plants.

Oil seal flanges, made of synthetic rubber instead of leather, recently were perfected by the research department here and are being introduced on the market.

Pres. Lloyd A. Johnson says the improvement in seal production will bring increased efficiency at reduced costs to the consumer, the aim of every manufacturer.

The main plant at Redwood City is expecting to add to its executive and research department staff during the new year. The research staff, headed by Hugh Stewart, chief chemist, and Fred Helfrecht, research engineer, currently numbers eight.

Dr. Clifford Houston, dean of students and director of student personnel at the University of Colorado, will spend a six-month leave of absence as Johnson's assistant, and he will head the industrial relations department and set up an orientation program for new employes. Houston, his wife and two children are expected to arrive here Jan. 2.

No new building for the Redwood City plant is slated for the immediate future, Johnson says. However, the company is in a state of evolution and it's hard to say what will happen, he continued. Additional office space, badly needed here, would probably be the first building project.

Total costs of the two plant's expansion is around $1,100,000, according to Johnson. Present employment at the three sites is about 1055, with 425 in Redwood City, 320 at Downey and 310 in Van Wert.

National Motor Bearing Co., which will celebrate its 29th birthday Jan. 2, stopped making bearings some 20 years ago, when Johnson decided to concentrate on oil seals and shims.

Seals are the spring-fitted, steel and rubber or leather flanges used to seal lubricants in bearings of moving shafts. Eight to 14 seals are used in one car. Shims are the paper-thin, metal spacers used in fitting parts.

Belmont Fire Chief Denies He'll Resign

Chief Elbert E. Miller of the Belmont Fire Dist. has denied a report that he was planning to resign in favor of a similar post in Santa Cruz.

The rumor started, the chief surmises, after he had visited the seaside city recently. He admitted that he had been approached about the job as chief in Santa Cruz, but said he is "happy just where I am."

He pointed out that he had "put in too much time organizing the Belmont department" to leave in the midst of it.

The rumor gained momentum chiefly because of the rapid turnover in city officials during the past few years.

San Carlos Gag Man Finds Life Can Be Busy, Humorous

BY MIMI BELL

Jerry Bundsen, Herb Caen's man Friday-everyday, the brain behind the gags in the Bobby Sox comic strip, script and fiction writer, says he wouldn't have the slightest idea how to go about working at just one job.

"I'm so used to doing eight in one," says Jerry, "that I simply wouldn't know how to go at it."

The dialogue in the Marty Links' Bobby Sox comic is Bundsen's. He dreams up the 'teen-age situations 12 weeks in advance of their appearance in the newspaper columns. Marty Links and Bundsen own the strip together.

The "limitations" of a strip like Bobby Sox "are terrific," the gag writer says. "The situations have got to be either naive or funny," Bundsen says, since his bobby soxers must keep within the small area bounded by good taste.

"You couldn't put a bobby soxer in a bar, for instance," he explains. It can't be risque, or sophisticated. So he tries to keep his in-between child and adult characters at home—perhaps in a hot rod—at school—or at the local soda fountain. And he has done it for four years now.

Ideas keep popping up, he claims, and only once, after the first six months of creating the 'teen-age talk, did he falter. Suddenly, Jerry says, he went into a slump, worried like mad for awhile, just as suddenly got his second wind, and it has gone smoothly ever since.

Funny thing how people keep trying to give him anecdotes and hints for situations which won't work. Somebody will say, "You ought to know my mother-in-law." It seems that mother-in-law detests cigar smoke and Junior—well, you ought to know Junior. It was the funniest thing you ever saw, and why don't you use it, Jerry?

What they don't see, Jerry explains, is that the background has to be brought out to make the incident funny and the incident itself compressed into 10-word statements.

Since funny business comes as hard as the serious stuff, Jerry works regular morning office hours, digging it out in his home-built workroom studio at the back of the Bundsens' cozy house which snuggles under an enormous oak on Baytree Rd. in San Carlos.

His is the type of mind which can turn on and off its various compartments like a faucet. Jerry turns off Bobby Sox, or Little Iodine, which he does now in comic book form with Jimmy Hatlow, and commutes to San Francisco every day for an afternoon of sorting, typing, telephoning, and more dreaming up with Herb Caen for Caen's daily column, "It's News to Me."

Bundsen, who had his own advertising publicity office after graduating from San Jose State, has worked with Caen for the last 12 years. Caen introduces him as "his writer." "It's embarrassing," says Jerry. He likes to sum up his job with Caen this way, "I make his day easier."

Jerry helped re-read and cull every column Caen had written during the last 10 years for his recently published book, "Baghdad by the Bay," and typed a stack of material two feet high.

JERRY BUNDSEN

Jerry types at the rate of 90 words a minute—comes in handy, he says.

One of his sidelines was his collaboration with Ted Weems on the narrative for the show Weems featured during his recent engagement at the St. Francis Hotel, a nostalgic tale, illustrated in song and dance, of San Francisco.

The 48-page comic book featuring Little Iodine, was one of the hardest jobs. What he likes best is fiction, the slick-for-the-slicks variety. He has done several stories for national magazines.

A couple of nights a week the local writer helps Caen cover his beat—San Francisco—but he and his blond wife, Norma, who before her marriage to Bundsen carved her own career as one of San Francisco's most outstanding models, like their pine-paneled house in San Carlos, and the company of 5-year-old Bette, "Miss Gangster Buster," and their brand new son, Robert. But you wouldn't expect a gag writer to call him that, so it's "Buster."

Raid Cleaners, But Get Only $3

Burglars who raided the Harlow Cleaners plant at 1324 El Camino Real in San Carlos sometime Monday night netted only $3 in cash, police reported today.

Edison Harlow, owner of the establishment, discovered the burglar's visit this morning shortly after 8 o'clock when he opened the shop.

Harlow said he would be unable to ascertain whether any clothing had been taken until customers called for goods left to be cleaned.

He added, however, that he believed the clothing loss, if any, would be light, because most cleaning had been completed for the Christmas holidays, according to police.

The burglars entered through a side window after breaking the pane. The $3 in small change was taken from the cash register, officers said.

VICTIM OF HOUSING CRACKDOWN — This baby pigeon is one of two small birds discovered during the recent facelifting at the Redwood City City Hall. Frank Petrucci, assistant poundmaster, holds the pigeon which had been housed under the eaves of the city building. Although eased out of their home under the roof, the birds were given a nest closer to the ground by the city until they are old enough to shift for themselves.

SM County's Population Set at 236,000 as 1949 Ends

San Mateo County can boast 236,500 population as of January, 1950, California Taxpayers' Assn. reported today in its annual estimate of the population of California counties. The county ranks tenth among the state's 58 counties in population and shows the third largest 10-year percentage gain.

The county's 236,500 estimated population for January, 1950, shows an increase of 11.9 per cent over the 211,300 estimate (revised) for January, 1949.

Since the April, 1940, census, the county population has increased by 111.6 per cent, the 1940 census showing 111,782 people in the county.

Population of the state for January, 1950, is 10,730,200, an increase of 3.1 per cent over the 10,404,700 estimate (revised) for January, 1949, the Taxpayers' Assn. said.

During the 1940 decade, statewide, there has been a 55.3 per cent increase in the population, the 1940 census showing 6,907,387 people in California.

Thirty-six California counties have had bigger than 50 per cent increases in population during the 1940 decade, the Taxpayers' Assn. found.

Largest increase since 1940 were in Contra Costa county, 194.1 per cent; Solano County, 133.5 per cent; San Mateo County, 111.6 per cent; and San Diego County, 98.9 per cent.

Other counties with more than 50 per cent increase since 1940 included Butte, Calaveras, Fresno, Humboldt, Inyo, Kern, Kings, Lake, Madera, Marin, Mendocino, Monterey, Napa, Orange, Placer, Plumas, Riverside, Sacramento, San Bernardino, San Joaquin, San Luis Obispo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Shasta, Sonoma, Stanislaus, Sutter, Tehama, Trinity, Tulare, Yolo and Yuba.

In the past year, population increases of 5 per cent or more were found in 23 counties. They include Calaveras, Colusa, Fresno, Humboldt, Inyo, Kern, Kings, Madera, Mendocino, Merced, Mono, Orange, Placer, Sacramento, San Diego, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Sierra, Tehama, Tulare, Tuolumne, Ventura and Yolo Counties.

Only one county, Alpine, the smallest county, shows a decrease in population, January, 1950, estimate, compared with the 1940 census. For January, 1950, the estimate for Alpine County is 300 people, compared with 323 for the 1940 census.

During 1949, population decreases are indicated for seven counties—Amador, Del Norte, El Dorado, Lake, Mariposa, Modoc, Nevada, San Luis Obispo, Solano, Trinity and Yuba Counties, the association found.

"California's tremendous growth poses serious problems for each one of the levels of government—federal, state, counties, cities, school districts, and other districts," the association said.

"Each one of the 10,733,200 people in the state is an actual or a potential taxpayer.

"For the welfare of California, and for the prosperity of every Californian, year 'round conscientious and economical administration of government on every level is needed."

Ex-Prize Fighter Gets Jail Term

A 32-year-old former San Francisco prize fighter who on Nov. 13 led police on an 85-mile-an-hour chase through north county communities is going to be limited to the jail's confines for the next six months.

Ernest W. Goodnough, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of felony drunk driving, was sentenced late yesterday to six months and three years probation.

"He led the officers a merry chase all over the county and he's going to go to jail," Superior Judge Aylett R. Cotton said in denying Goodnough's plea for probation only.

The chase started in South San Francisco, and before it ended in Burlingame involved police cars from four cities. During his flight Goodnough struck two cars and injured two persons.

Pleads Guilty To Bigamy Count

John Poche, 22-year-old South San Francisco truck loader, late yesterday pleaded guilty to a bigamy charge filed against him by his bride of four months.

Poche asked for probation and is to be sentenced by Superior Judge Aylett R. Cotton on Jan. 11.

According to the district attorney's office, Poche was married first in Alexandria, La., in June, 1946. His second marriage, in Carson City, was last Aug. 21.

Poche did not tell his new wife, Dorothy, of the first marriage, officers reported.

40 Bike Licenses Issued in Redwood City

More than 40 Redwood City boys and girls apparently had a happy Christmas as Redwood City police said today they had issued at least 40 new bicycle licenses since Christmas time. Lt. Edwin Fogarty said the department has been busy issuing new licenses since Christmas day on the average of about 10 a day.

SC Building Permit Listed

Despite the Christmas holidays, building activity continued in San Carlos during the past week when seven new permits were issued, according to Bldg. Insp. Vincent Murphy.

Included in the permits was a commercial warehouse for the Birch Van & Storage Co., four dwellings, and two additions.

The week's total valuation of $51,000 brought the value of approved construction to $3,704,700 for the year, Murphy's report indicated. The permits include 279 homes.

Fire Chief Urges Yule Tree Cleanup

With the holiday season nearing an end, Fire Chief Joseph L. Lodi today warned Redwood City residents to get rid of their Christmas trees. Chief Lodi said the trees are getting dry now and are a fire hazard.

He pointed out that most of the moisture is gone from the tree's leaves and that they catch fire easily.

Following an address on the history of the troop by Barrer, Bob Harman entertained by playing Rachmaninoff's "Polichinelle"; also entertaining were Mike Egar on the accordion, Ron Armbrust, accordion, and Franklin and Marilyn Mitchell tapped to "Satan's Holiday."

Ask County Aid On School Roads

Belmont city councilmen have passed a resolution calling for county participation in widening and grading approaches to the new San Carlos-Belmont High School.

The Belmont council followed action taken along similar lines by the Sequoia High School Dist. and San Carlos council in requesting the board of supervisors to render financial aid.

The resolution called for widening, paving and installation of curbs and gutters along the Alameda de las Pulgas in Belmont.

The council also deferred action on a request from the Belmont Planning Commission for allocation of $500 for study in relocating the Alameda.

The planners had asked for funds to make an aerial photograph of the area, showing contours.

City Engineer L. G. Brian, however, quoted two estimates which he had just received, and asked that further study be given the matter.

One estimate was for $885 and the other for $1850. The latter called for a map with 10-foot contours and a scale of one inch equaling 500 feet, but cost too much, councilmen felt.

Some other solution is being studied by the council, though the location of Alameda de las Pulgas is admittedly necessary because of plans for the high school nearby.

Unemployment Insurance Rates in California Will Be Increased by Jan. 1, Despite Employers' Try to Bolster Fund

SACRAMENTO (WNS) — Any hopes California employers may have had of eliminating the necessity of increased unemployment insurance rates by paying up contributions before Jan. 1, have been dispelled by an opinion of Atty. Gen. Fred N. Howser.

Howser ruled in effect, that the unemployment tax could not be paid previous to the due date, and that even if the money should be sent to the department of employment, the time necessary to clear checks would preclude its being in the reserve fund Jan. 1.

According to the unemployment insurance act, whenever the fund on Jan. 1 is less than 7½ per cent of the state's subject payrolls for the previous year, and increase in the contributions rate for employers who have earned low merit ratings, is necessary.

Certain employers throughout the state who make large contributions to the fund had planned to make payments as of Dec. 31 to bolster the reserve, thereby eliminating the necessity for the raise.

Department of employment officials concede that the fund on Jan. 1 will be below the 7½ per cent figure, and that low merit ratings will be wiped out.

Urge Belmont To Organize Chamber

Belmont city councilmen this week gave their blessing to a plan calling for establishment of a Belmont Chamber of Commerce.

The plan was advocated by Embert M. Brown, Belmont realtor, who said he had been talking about the project for the past three years.

Brown said he had "never seen a town the size of Belmont without a chamber." He added that he would be willing to devote most of the remainder of his life to the chamber.

Brown cited the tremendous growth of the Los Angeles area as an example of what a live-wire chamber could do. He said that it would be operated by and for the businessmen of Belmont should the chamber be established.

The council through Mayor Bayley Kohlmeier assured Brown that it would cooperate in the venture. While no official action was taken, councilmen agreed that a chamber would fill a long-felt need.

Pointing to the projected establishment of the First National Bank of Belmont, Brown said city residents must realize that "Belmont's on its way."

Sewer Hearing Set On Assessments

Protests against the proposed North Rd. sewer assessment district will be heard in the Belmont City Hall Feb. 28, councilmen ordered this week at their regular monthly meeting.

The district involves lots 4 to 13 in block 89 of Belmont Country Club Properties. The assessment proceedings are expected to cost about $6000.

The district will be formed at the request of Carlton Schammel, who is planning to build in the area now without sewer service.

The council also approved a recommendation from City Engineer L. G. Brian that assessment proceedings in the Clee St. area be abandoned.

Brian told councilmen that the proponent of the plan, Frank Westley, had found another pipeline since inaugurating the proceedings several months ago.

Westley had posted sufficient funds to absorb city costs involved in setting the stage for the assessment district, Brian said.

Belmont Welfare Assn. Formed

Organization of the Belmont Police Welfare Assn. was completed this week when officers were elected at a meeting in police headquarters.

Patrolman George Doyle was named president of the group, Patrolman Andrew E. Turnauer as secretary and Patrolman William E Smith as treasurer.

The organization was formed to benefit members of the department and their families. Other residents of the city will be included among beneficiaries in case of emergency, leaders said.

One of the first projects under way is establishment of an association blood blank. The plasma will be made available for members of the association and others in the city should the need arise.

Running Water Dampens Spirits

Residents of the El Centro Apartments, 1141 Whipple Rd., had their Christmas spirits dampened somewhat Sunday.

Redwood City firemen reported that running water damaged three floors in the large building about 8:55 p.m. A broken water line caused the unwelcome flow, but the pipe was shut off before serious damage was caused.

Firemen worked with mops and covers for about an hour to clean up the flood. Damage was confined to plaster, the department reported.

McCarthy to Form Dog Study Group

Councilman Donnell B. McCarthy of Belmont this week was named to organize a citizens' committee to study the city's stray dog problems and make recommendations for a suitable ordinance.

Action was taken after councilmen expressed unwillingness to adopt the ordinance based on Richmond requirements introduced at an earler meeting.

The proposed law would make it a misdemeanor to allow one's dog to roam at large without a leash. The ordinance empowered the poundmaster to seize any animal within 12 hours after a violation.

No opposition to the ordinance was voiced at last night's meeting. A measure in effect in Beverly Hills will be studied by the committee to provide a possible answer to the dog problem.

In Beverly Hills the dog owner is punished. First offenders are given a citation; a fine of $25 is assessed for a second offense, and a jail sentence is meted out for a third violation.

The council also introduced an ordinance making it unlawful to excavate on city streets without first receiving permission from the city clerk and the building inspector.

Belmont Scouts Entertain at Relief Home

Mrs. James Howe's Girl Scout troop entertained Mrs. Don Howard's troop and mothers of both groups at a meeting recently in the Church of the Good Shepherd in Belmont.

The program was repeated recently at the County Relief Homes, where fathers of both troops were special guests.

Entertainment was provided by Helene Howe with an accordion solo; Joan Hartman with a monologue, accompanied by Anita Rice; Pattie Wressler with a monologue, accompanied by Barbara Kutzer; Yvonne Whitman with a piano solo; Judy Hannibal with a recitation; Helene Howe with a tap dance; and Joanne Suggs and Judy Hannibal with a song and dance.

New Warehouse Planned for SC

Construction of a new $20,000 warehouse to be used by the Birch Van & Storage Co. of San Carlos was under way this week.

The new structure will be located at 1055 Holly St. near its intersection with the Old County Rd., according to John Rehe, proprietor.

The building will be entirely fire resistant and constructed of concrete blocks and reinforced concrete. The roof will be of steel.

Since the war, Pacific Telephone gained as many telephones in the West as in the previous 19 years.

West's four-millionth telephone goes to work

1. Takes a lot of equipment to serve 4,000,000 telephones making 22,000,000 calls a day. And in just the few high-speed years since the war, we've almost doubled our facilities as measured in dollars. And those dollars have produced results. It took 45 years to install our first million telephones, 17 years to install the second million, 6 years for the third... and only 3½ years for the fourth.

2. Service keeps on improving as we add this new equipment. Today you can get the dial tone or the operator quickly in almost every exchange. Long Distance calls, nine out of ten of them, go through while you stay on the line...often in half a minute if you know the number. It's a good record. But we won't be satisfied until everyone who wants service has it...the best service ever.

3. Your own telephone today is more valuable as a result of the many we've added. You can call more of the people you want to call — more can call you. And your telephone does its work, big jobs and small, for only a few pennies a call. It's one of the best buys you can make with your dollars today.

Your telephone is one of today's best bargains
